Our Story - The Padma Legacy

Welcome to Padma, where tradition meets modern elegance. Founded by a passionate mother and her daughter, Padma is more than a brand – it's a legacy of love, care, and natural beauty.

Our journey began in a humble kitchen, where our grandmother's time-tested Ayurvedic recipes were lovingly prepared and passed down through the generations. Inspired by these rich traditions and guided by our commitment to natural ingredients, we set out to create a line of beauty products that honor these ancient practices while addressing contemporary needs.

At Padma, every product is a reflection of our dedication to quality and authenticity. We meticulously source ingredients like hibiscus petals, amla, aloe vera, and turmeric to craft oils, face packs, and powders that nurture your skin and hair with the purest nature has to offer. Our mission is to address modern beauty concerns with natural, effective solutions while staying true to our roots.

Join us on this journey and embrace the tradition of natural care with Padma. Let our products, infused with generations of wisdom and love, become a cherished part of your self-care routine.
